Custom/Self-Build Interest - Register Form

What is the purpose of the register?

The Government wants to enable more people to build or commission their own home and have recently published national guidance which sets out how councils should manage the demand for self-build and custom house-building. A key element of the guidance is the requirement to keep a register of interested individuals and associations which will provide an indication of the demand for self/custom build locally in the Isles of Scilly. The information held by the register will allow the Council to develop their housing and planning policies to support the kinds of self and custom build projects that would be most appropriate.

How we will use information from the register

By signing up, you will help us find out more about the demand for custom build plots in the Isles of Scilly, for instance where people would like their plot to be and the type of house that they would like to build.

We shall use the information to explore ways in which it might be possible for people and plots to be brought together, for instance by including appropriate policies in Local Plans. Registration does not however guarantee that a suitable serviced plot will be identified, or become available.

We will not pass identifiable information from the Register onto anyone without the written consent of the person who registered their details.

More information on self-build and custom house building

The National Custom and Self Build Association (NCaSBA) have produced a toolkit which provides advice on how numbers of homes being built through this method can be increased. Whilst the information in the toolkit is primarily aimed at local authorities, there is a range of useful information provided which introduces the main models which typically deliver custom and self-build homes and also showcases a number of informative case studies from the UK and abroad.
