Re: Application for planning to convert existing garage at Jedi, McFarlands Down, St. Mary's, Isles of Scilly into one bed roomed self-catering accommodation

The above application has been requested to convert the existing garage building into high specification one bedroomed self-catering accommodation for tourism.

Jedi was originally built as one dwelling and the upstairs contained two en-suite bedrooms for the running of a bed and breakfast business for many years. The house was later separated into two dwellings and the business was temporarily suspended, but the current operators now wish to resume the tourism letting business, which had previously been granted by both the Council of the Isles of Scilly and the Duchy of Cornwall.

Due to the new arrangements we feel that the existing outbuilding (garage) would allow us to provide high quality self-catering holiday accommodation.
