Feedback received:
In relation to the proposal for Tregarthen's then my view would be that the redevelopment of the current hotel into an apart-hotel style accommodation is acceptable in principle. The mechanisms by which we ensure each 'self-catering' apartment is not sold off as a separate unit of holiday accommodation will have to be considered carefully. I consider that the redevelopment of an existing C1 hotel to a different style of hotel would likely come under a Sui-Generis, mixed use site which could incorporate the self-catering apartments (which are not technically C1 or C3) as well as the other traditional hotel accommodation, and restaurant. Subject to the plans achieving a high quality built environment, in terms of design and materials, not impacting detrimentally on other issues of acknowledged importance (historic environment, heritage assets, neighbouring residential amenity and highway safety and other infrastructure etc) then I would be happy to support the proposal as discussed at our meeting.
