Thank you for consulting us on this application. We have looked at the documents available on your website.

Despite its name the Ancient Monuments Society (AMS) does not concern itself with archaeology, but we do take an interest in any development which may impact on the character of historically-significant sites.

We share your Heritage Protection Officer's opinion that there is insufficient information with the application. It would be useful to see visualisations of how the new development would impact on the site as a whole, including the setting of the fortifications.

We would be happy to look at the application again, should the necessary information be made available.
