To whom it may concern,

With regard to the planned works at Tregarthans hotel,

I would like the council to either object or add a strict proviso to the planning application should it be granted, that there should be no parking by the builders contractors in the mermaid carpark. There is precious little parking space as it is, especially for those of us who have to work on off islands, and its hard enough to find a space in the car park at the best of times, and building works on this scale would render the carpark unusable.

Yours sincerely,

Stuart Moore
