We have expressed our concerns before about the conversion of in-house staff accommodation to further guest/letting accommodation. Given the understandable desire of young hotel staff to relax at what are unsocial hours for many in other parts of Hugh Town it seems manifestly preferable that such staff should be accommodated, insofar as is possible, within the body of Tregarthen's Hotel. To relinquish the staff block will simply be to the detriment of businesses and residents in Hugh Town. We would like to know why Tregarthen's consider it necessary to move their staff away from their hotel.

kind regards
