- i) Regarding the above development proposal, I see on the plans that there is a 45degree pitch roof which will make it approximately 14foot 6inches above the building line of Higher Strand.
- ii) I worked there for 34 years; the building was basically designed as a dairy for pasteurizing and bottling milk therefore a lot of the construction is of single block wall, no cavity. Just wondered how this stands with the very strict building regs of today.

Yours sincerely
