Dear Lisa

I have spoken with the applicants and they intend to replace the existing chimney pot at this time, which is a modern clay pot, however they are looking for a traditional clay pot which will be more inkeeping if they are able to find one.

They have looked at the proposed conditions and are happy with them

Regards Paul

Dear Paul

Apologies for the delay in getting out this decision. I wasn't able to get out to visit the property until recently. I have now visited St Martins and would just like to ask whether there is any intention to re-build the chimneys on this property. I note the plans show some changes to the pots, but as these are currently brick with clay pots, can you provide me with details as to any changes, to explain the changes shown on the plans?

Thanks

Lisa
