Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing in support of Lily's Thai van's location on Holgates Green, with its location being central in town it is a perfect position. There is a major need for more food retailers on St. Mary's, many tourists, and locals find it almost impossible to find any food in the evening due to it being so busy and not having many eating establishments open in the evening. I believe the van is only there for a few hours in the evening and is gone before too late, this still gives plenty of time for people to enjoy the green before and after they have stopped serving food. Maybe in time, a more permanent position may be discussed as I understand other people's comments about keeping the grass healthy, but why get in the way of local businesses trying to thrive?

Regards,

Joshua Kirk
